

Formation of Stars: 13.6 Billion Years Ago

Draw a giant nebula, a swirling cloud of hydrogen and helium gas, with a bright new star igniting at its center. You could include smaller stars beginning to glow in the darkness around it.