

The First Stone Tools (Paleolithic Era) 2.6 Million Years Ago

Draw an early Homo habilis kneeling in East Africa, striking a river stone against a cobble to chip off a sharp Oldowan flake tool, with a small fire glowing nearby.